

Community organisations possess the right to submit requests to local authorities, Scottish Ministers and public service authorities for buildings or land they feel could be managed more effectively. These rights are encompassed under Part 5 of the Community Empowerment Act (2015). Community groups are permitted to request ownership, lease or other rights to these assets. SEStran alongside other public authorities must consider requests based upon a set list of standards including eligibility requirements; all of which are outlined within the Community Empowerment Act (2015). Requests are accepted by public authorities unless there is valid reasoning for the claim to be rejected. Additional information on community empowerment and asset transfers can be found on the Scottish government website at: <https://beta.gov.scot/policies/community-empowerment/asset-transfer/>. The following information details requests made between 1st April 2022 – 31st March 2023.
